At SEC, our passion is creating great places to live, work, and play. Designing timeless environments that respond to nature is our specialty. We believe in a disciplined, process-oriented design approach that takes into account the natural characteristics of a site and is focused on our client's goals and needs. Our staff of experienced professionals takes pride in listening to our clients and developing long-term, trusting relationships with all of the stakeholders involved in our projects.

As part of a multi-disciplinary team of professionals, our design solutions are not just creatively conceived, but they work. Insuring that the places we design can be built and function well for the end-user is paramount to our success. By assembling our teams of Planners, Landscape Architects, and Engineers under one roof, communication is streamlined resulting in a more efficient, cost-effective process to serve our clients.

Our hands-on approach and steady interaction with our clients result in plans that bring their vision to life. We know that in the ever changing development environment, flexibility and responsiveness are vital to a project's success. Our projects are designed with long-term maintenance and management in mind. We structure our design teams to meet all of our client's goals, budgets, and schedules in a responsible manner.
